

Teaching Christianity Well with the new RE Syllabus

A practical half day course to support schools to plan and deliver effective and thorough teaching

Outline

The course comes complete with new detailed resources especially written for the syllabus by a partnership of teachers and RE professionals, enabling schools to produce a practical, realistic and integral long term curriculum plan. The course will clarify the combined requirements of the new local agreed syllabus, Ofsted and SIAMS, giving schools confidence to teach Christianity well while also promoting understanding and tolerance of diverse world faiths.

The course is written and presented by the co-author of the syllabus.

Description

The course will include:

Teaching Christianity comprehensively using a new suite of detailed units on Christianity covering every year group.

Creating a long term curriculum plan with robust coverage of Christianity combined with thorough teaching on world faiths and the promotion of diversity and tolerance.

Using progression content maps for all world faiths, linked to detailed units of work Strategies and activities for the classroom

Outcome

The course comes complete with a comprehensive pack of planning for KS1 and KS2
